A REDNECK CHRISTMAS

I always enjoyed redneck jokes. Hearing them and telling them. Until one day someone made it plain that I am redneck, too. Previously, I foolishly considered myself a sophisticate. Such a humbling awakening!

In my Christmas music collection there is that twangy “Tennessee Christmas”. I like it! And George Strait’s “Fresh Cut Christmas” CD album! Fits me perfectly! And Alan Jackson. And Reba, too. (Give me credit, please. I also have the London Philharmonic Orchestra, Montovani, Andrea Bocelli and Susan Boyle Christmas recordings.)

But it isn’t bad being a redneck at Christmas. After all, the shepherds would have worn the redneck label. They weren’t like those clean-as-a-whistle people in modern nativity scenes. They were lowly. Even outcasts. They were not clean-shaven, well-educated, well-bred or well-traveled. One author had a shepherd say they have “walked a thousand miles yet only worn the grass between our work and home away.” But here is the good part: we rednecks are just as welcome at the manger as you “three kings of orient” are.

Well, that’s another good part: the high-riding, elaborately-robed, high-born wise men are received with no more of a wide-armed welcome than us hicks. True, their gifts are gold, frankincense and myrrh. Mine are pennies, nickels and mites. Yes, they bowed down and worshipped Him. (Matthew 2:11) But our redneck crowd did the same. (Luke 2:16-20) I know! They and others worship Him with such elegance and sophistication. I worship with plainness and simplicity. But my redneck obedience is just as genuine and equally as acceptable to God. Jesus’ door is open to us all. Come on in!

So, sing my revised tune. You know the melody.

“Have yourself a merry REDNECK Christmas;
Let your hearts be light;
From now on our troubles will be out of sight;
Have yourself a merry REDNECK Christmas;
Make the Yuletide gay;
From now on our troubles will be miles away;
Here we are as in olden days, happy golden days of yore.....”

Dwight
